

Consent to the processing of personal data for customized offers

To properly target advertising to potential customers who, with respect to their preferences, might be interested in purchasing goods or services offered by our company or another company from the ASKLEPION Group, with your consent we will use automated tools to track which products you browse or purchase on our website, and this information will be matched to the personal data we have already received from you. Depending on what kind of goods you are interested in, we will display advertising that may be useful to you.

To send offers we will use your identification information (name and surname) and contact information (e-mail address). Your custom advertising will be selected based on information from cookie files and the IP addresses of websites you visit.

You can revoke your consent at any time.